You consummated your Calculus 42S credit with a dollop of excellence! You have proven to be an efficacious student who consummates tasks in a logical order and are customarily on task! I appreciate the questions asked in class as well as the tenacity of dealing with conundrums. With these great skills Jack Stalk, you have achieved a mind blowing mark of 99% which is amongst the top of the class. I have genuinely relished edifying you and I optate you the best of fortuity in the future!

Paul

Paul, your grade of 30% reflects a series of low test scores and exam. Unfortunately, you have not achieved the credit for Calculus 42S. Your use of class time was often questionable. You rarely sought any guidance from me on your homework questions. You did not take advantage of opportunities to meet with me in the morning or after school, or peer tutors. I suggest that you retake the Calculus 42S course and revise your study habits. Homework needs to be completed everyday, and follow up with the teacher on concepts you do not understand. You will be surprised how much easier the course material will become if you consistently do this.

Dunstan

Dunstan, this course has shown inconsistencies in your work ethics. Due to low test scores you have not achieved the credit for Calculus 42S. You rarely showed interest in doing homework which was obviously reflected upon on your grade. I suggest you to put in more effort and revise your study habits. I also suggest you, Dunstan to make sure to request for help when needed. Your overall grade will improve greatly and you will find the course a lot easier if you consistently follow this advice.
