

Calculus 42S Report Card Comments

Jack Stalk

Jack Stalk, you have had a prosperous run in this course! You have vigorous study habits, which are reflected in your high grade of 99%. I've visually perceived good critical cerebrating facilities and great quandary solving skills from you. Throughout this course, you were tenacious to understand everything and did not give up until mastering the concept. It has been a gratification edifying you this year and I optate you the best of fortuity for the future.

Anand

Anand, your grade of 34% reflects a series of low test scores and exam. Unfortunately, you have not achieved the credit for Calculus 42S. Your use of class time was often questionable. You rarely sought any guidance from me on your homework questions. You did not take advantage of opportunities to meet with me in the morning or after school, or peer tutors. I suggest that you retake the Calculus 42S course and revise your study habits. Homework needs to be completed everyday, and follow up with the teacher on concepts you do not understand. You will be surprised how much easier the course material will become if you consistently do this.

Marcus

Marcus has magnified ameliorations in this course and should be proud of their great score of 75%. I look forward to edifying you again next semester!

Harman

Harman has been struggling to keep up with their class in terms of their grade. Passing with a score of 55% in this course is a worrying trend and should be looked further into. Good fortuity next term.
